Stacey Knox – Student Success and Wellbeing Lead

Stacey is a proud South African educational leader with over ten years of international teaching and leadership experience in Vietnam and the UAE.

She holds a PGCE and a Master's degree, bringing a strong academic foundation to her leadership in education.

With a deep passion for student growth and development, Stacey believes that a holistic approach to education is key to nurturing confident, well-rounded learners. She advocates for a learning environment where children feel supported, challenged, and empowered to explore their interests. Her philosophy is rooted in the belief that every child is capable and deserves opportunities to discover their strengths and passions.

As the Student Success and Wellbeing Lead at Arcadia Global School, Stacey is committed to fostering a positive and inclusive school culture. She plays a crucial role in ensuring that pupils thrive academically, socially, and emotionally. Through her leadership in assessment and pastoral care, she works collaboratively with educators, parents, and pupils to create a school environment where every child feels valued, respected, and motivated to reach their full potential.
